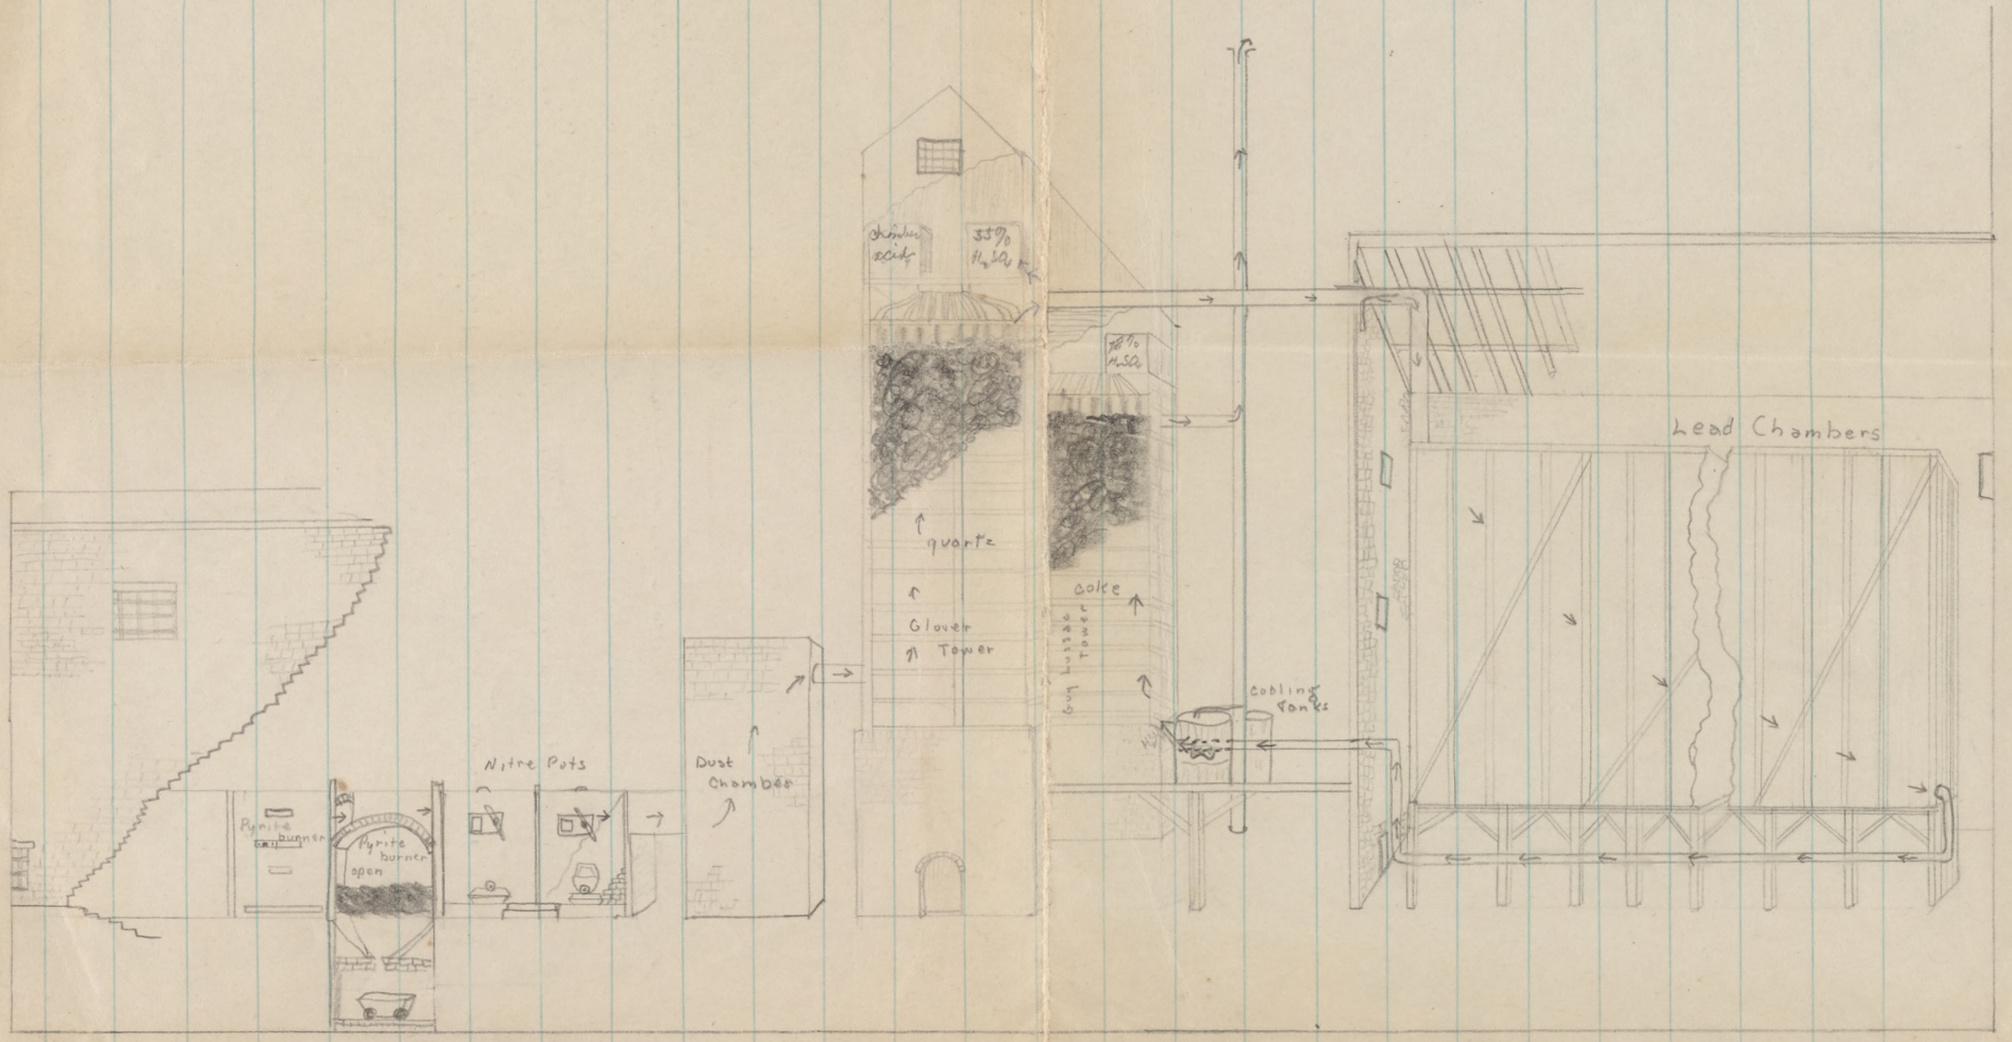
Sulphuric Acid Plant



Lucille Lefton
January 24, 1932

Chemistry

Preparation of Sulphuric acid by the Chamber process.

Iron sulphide is burned in a pyrite burner. $2FeS_2 + 4O_2 \rightarrow 2Fe + 4SO_2$. This burner has a place thru which cinders may be removed. The ceiling is arched and the gases collect there as they are formed. The gas is sulpher dioxide and is removed by a flue, into a gaining chambers known as nitre pots or vitriol chambers. Water, either in the form of steam or a fine spray is issued into these chambers. There is already a certain amount of oxygen therefore the reaction - $SO_2 + O + H_2O \rightarrow H_2SO_4$. This H_2SO_4 is combined with sodium nitrate - $2NaNO_3 + H_2SO_4 \rightarrow Na_2SO_4 + 2HNO_3$. The nitric acid is combined with the sulpher dioxide and water, thus $2HNO_3 + 3SO_2 + 2H_2O \longrightarrow 3H_2SO_4 + 2NO$. The nitric acid reacts with oxygen, forming NO_2. The NO_2 and SO_2 is forced up into the dust chamber to remove the dust, and then into the Glover tower. This is filled with quartz (more of this later). Then it is carried to the Lead Chambers where SO_2, NO_2, steam and air are brought together.

4/5 of the air is nitrogen, so it is necessary to let the nitrogen escape & yet retain the oxides of it. Thus, it is passed into the Gay Lussac Tower, where the nitrogen is passed up and the oxides are dissolved with the sulphuric acid. (This tower is filled with coke & 78% sulphuric acid sprinked down over the coke) The nitrogen escapes because it is insoluble. From the bottom of the Gay Lussac tower, the sulphuric acid with the oxides of the nitrogen is carried to the top of the Glover tower, which has quartz in it. The sulphuric acid and the chamber acid (58% H_2SO_4) is let trickle down over the quartz. These meet the SO_2 & NO_2 coming from the dust chamber & makes the chamber acid more concentrated and the Gay Lussac acid is decomposed by the presence of H_2O from the chamber acid. The sulphuric acid is taken from the bottom of the tower. It can be concentrated by boiling it in platenum pans.

The local boys will complete their week's schedule when they play hosts to the Escondido Cougars next Tuesday afternoon at 3.00 p.m.

Escondido's Varsity is now tied for second place, but according to past performances, the Islanders should easily run their string of victories to ten.

The Cougar Bees are still tied for first in the league standings with only one defeat.

This lone defeat was handed them in the first round by our own Bee team and it is sure that they will be out to turn in another upset next Tuesday afternoon.

VARSITY CAGERS SCHEDULE THREE STIFF GAMES

Confident of Victory Over Escondido—Will Battle Merchants Team Saturday; Bud Ingle Goes Wild In La Jolla Game

By Shelby Millar

The local gymnasium will be very busy this coming week as Coach Harold Niedermeyer has scheduled two non-league games besides the league games next Tuesday afternoon with Escondido High.

The first of the three games will be played Friday night when the Varsity meets the Coronado Merchants, the evening school team.

Saturday night will see the Varsity in action against the Stanley Andrews sporting goods store team. These Stanley Andrews boys are very smooth, and are considered one of the strongest teams in San Diego county.

The local boys will complete their week's schedule when they play hosts to the Escondido Cougars next Tuesday afternoon at 3.00 p.m.

Grossmont didn't give in as easily last Friday night as they did in the first round, for the first half of the game didn't look too well for the local boys, as they were only leading by a 13 to 11 score.

The second half was very much the opposite as every one of the boys did some fine shooting to win 38 to 19.

Herm Reidlinger scored 11 points in a desperate attempt for a victory but the local Bees fell to a 29 to 24 defeat.

Buddy Ingle literally went wild against La Jolla Tuesday afternoon as he scored 35 points to lead the Varsity to a 57 to 17 victory.

This 35 point scoring spree means a new individual scoring record, and also helped lead to what may be the highest scoring team record.

The score at the half time was 35 to 3.

After being upset in the first round by the Vikings, the local Bees made up for it with a 44 to 21 victory. Sevy Molino and Herm Reidlinger made 12 and 11 points respectively.

Assistant Coach Hi Callister will play his C and D teams in the annual San Diego High school invitational tournament, which will be played at the municipal and San Diego High gyms.

CHAMBER MEMORIALIZES SEN. FLETCHER

At the first regular business meeting of the new board of directors of the Coronado Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce office, various reports and letters from the Economic Council of Southern California, the Legislative Committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and others, concerning "production for use," relief, and new taxes, were read and discussed. It was unanimously decided to memorialize Senator Ed Fletcher and Assemblyman Charles W. Stream, representatives in the state legislature, and Mrs. Jeanette E. Daley, the chairman of the assembly committee on relief expenditures, as follows:

1—At the present special session of the legislature there is no need for new or increased taxes.

2—Relief apropriations can and should be held down to a level at which present taxes will pay the state's expense.

3—There should be no "production for use" scheme operated by the state. It will only put more men out of work, and result in an extravagant failure.

A letter from Col. F. E. Pierce was read notifying the chamber that arrangements have been completed to hold the Western Archery tournament in Coronado on July 6 and 7. The executive manager, A. J. Gray jr., reported in this regard that the San Diego convention bureau was putting up a trophy for this event and that Col. Pierce had requested one from the Coronado Chamber of Commerce. Since Coronado will be extensively publicized in both the national archery magazine and the western magazine, the directors voted $25.00 for this purpose.

A request from H. H. Fawcett for publicity in his publication was discussed, and referred to the publicity committee for investigation and report.

The matter of establishing a local merchants credit bureau was brought before the board. Nearly everyone present had something to say concerning the proposition, and the general opinion was that while the idea had some merit, it very probably could not work in Coronado for numerous reasons. That being the case, the matter was tabled.

President H. L. Boniface announced that committee appointments would be made the latter part of this week. Routine business occupied the balance of the the meeting, which adjourned at 8.45 p.m.

The next meeting will be held February 20 at 7.30 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce office.

GREATEST BASKETBALL GAME OF SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM

Friday night at the local high school Coronado's two big teams will swing into action in an effort to settle the big disputed question of which is the better ball club of the city.

The Coronado Merchants, composed of former high school stars, boasts a fine record in the San Diego Commercial Basketball league. Playing in that city's toughest competition they now stand in second place, having won six games and lost but two.

The high school varsity will pit its strongest team in years against the above aggregation.

Coach Niedermeyer's club has won eleven games to date and dropped only one at the beginning of the season to Tustin in the Huntington Beach invitational tournament.

This game should pack our physical education building to the ceiling with enthusiastic admirers of the two teams.

A double header will feature Friday night's entertainment. The first game at 7 p.m. will see the high school Bees vs the United Brethren. The latter team is in first place in the San Diego church league.

ALICE MARBLE PLAYS TENNIS MATCH HERE SUNDAY

A tennis tournament under the auspices of the Southern Californai Tennis association is scheduled to be played at the Hotel del Coronado Beach and Tennis club on Saturday and Sunday, February 10 and 11. It promises to equal in interest the summer tournaments, some of the top names in tennis being listed as entrants.

Coronado will support its own Bob Carrothers, 1937 Boys' singles and doubles champion of the United States, who competes Saturday with Douglas Woodbury, 1938 and 1939 Boys Interscholastic champion of Los Angeles, and on Sunday is teamed with Charles Hattmann against his old opponents, Frederick Shcroeder and David Freeman.

On Sunday afternoon, Alice Marble, ladies mixed doubles champion of the world, and Ted Olewine, 1939 Interscholastic singles champion of the United States will play against Dorothy Workman, seventh ranking ladies' singles player of the U. S., and Welby Van Horn, finalist for the mens' singles championship of the U. S.

The matches will be under the direction of Pat O'Hara, professional at the Hotel del Coronado. Alberto Campione will be honorary official referee and acting referee will be Perry Jones, secretary of the California Tennis association.

MEAT'S BEST ADVERTISEMENT

No, we haven't gone Nazi. We've printed Adolph Hitler's picture because we think he makes the best advertisement that meat has ever had.

You see, Adolph doesn't like meat. He hates it! He loathes it! He detests it! He never eats it!

So what? So he has a chronic stomachache. His system misses the good things in life which a steady meat diet gives. His digestive system is out of whack — off center, and a man with a stomachache is dangerous.

The German people have long been known as a happy, contented people. What made them that way? We'll tell you! It was dishes like sauerbraten, wiener schnitzel—plenty of rib-sticking beef, veal and pork.

But Adolph has to be different, even if it kills him—and ruins the rest of the world. So, imitating another international smart aleck, Signor Mussolini, he disavowed meat back in 1923, and became a strict vegetarian. We are told that even the smell of cooking meat is supposed to make Herr Hitler sick.

Adolph Hitler is a perfect example of what happens to a man who doesn't eat meat. He has plenty of crack-pot company in guys like George Bernard Shaw, Machiavelli, and the like.

History shows that non-meat eaters were for the greater part a lot of growling, mean-faced birds whom nobody liked. History shows too that most of its truly famous names like those of Lincoln, Washington, Dickens, Shakespeare, Joan of Arc, Socrates, Sir Francis Drake, Columbus, Voltaire Marquette, Jolliet Pasteur, Lord Pitt, Cecil Rhodes, and countless other were steady meat eaters.

Somebody ought to put a bug in Herr Hitler's ear. Right now his vegetarianism and its horrible results make him, "Meat's Best Advertiesment!" As such, by reverse English, he wins our award for 1940 as "The Man Who Is Doing the Most To Make Meat More Popular!"

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 7 (A.P.)—Those Alabama prison inmates who have been "good" all year in hope they would get a Christmas parole in accordance with 12-year-old custom are disillusioned.

The state's new three-member parole board announced a decision which said, in effect: "There ain't no Santa Claus."

Former Gov. Bibb Graves inaugurated the two-weeks Yuletide freedom plan in 1927. Wardens selected the worthies, who were bound only by a "man-to-man" promise to the governor to return. Of 3626, only 36 broke their word.

Under a constitutional amendment this year, pardon and parole powers were taken from the governor and vested in the board.

A wide range of contemplated Christmas projects was presented.

Mrs. Isabella Churchill, Bible literature chairman, told the story of "The Three Wisemen."

Mrs. Hazen Smith, Oneira club drama chairman, presented members of that club in a playlet, "The Stranger, Or Be Ye Kind to One Another." A group of Christmas songs was sung by the Escondido Women's club chorus, directed by Mrs. Stanley Lockwood.
